

U. S. Commissioner Holds Hearing On Proposed Celery Control For Florida Areas

County Clinics      Big Majority of Growers

Planned By RDB

The RDB management is now working on an extensive program for the coming year and is planning on a number of public hearings to discuss a variety of topics. As a preliminary to these hearings, the RDB will require congressional and public input. The first hearing will be invited to be present to speak and later at a Washington, D.C., hearing. The hearing will be held during six weeks of September and October or until after the November election. The hearings will be scheduled to meet his availability.

RDB during its existence has been a very active and busy industry group and participated in

Such a Set-up

The second of a series of three hearings announced for Sanford, Belle Glade and Sarasota, Fla., will be held on Monday and Tuesday for the purpose of determining the extent of the problem. The proposed celery growing control under the auspices of the Federal Department of Agriculture. The hearing will be attended by around 50 interested persons including growers, packers and processors. The Tuesday hearing a little smaller attended but not without shared interest.

The United Fruit Company representative as the pre-many hearings and projects and has proven its value to the community. The program will cover even greater scope and wider interest so the county will be assured the presentation of its full program.

Local Airport Condition Subject Of Discussion

Belle Glade has indications that it is going forward in the acquisition of modern day air in already practical works. It is currently practicing what it is talking about and has a radio side effect of the hearing was the presence of the county attorney for the U.S. D.A., of Atlanta, Ga. and his assistants. They were Attorney Harry Finkels, of the U.S. D.A., of Miami, and Floyd Hedlund assistant chief of the Florida and Vegetable branch of the U.S. D.A., of Washington, D.C., Minor F. Miller field representative of the same office in the state of Florida of Lakeland.

Legal counsel for several of the firms opposing the control and some representatives of the petitioners for the control were also present and took part in the hearing. The hearing was witnessed appearing before the board.

The hearings are not mere play things, but ones that are

As a result of a suggestive recommendation of Bill Pierce the City Commission has authorized City Solicitor Herbert Beck to set a going an investigation of ownership, leases and

The securing of other data which might bring about a modern air port.

Pierce stated that after an extensive survey, there was no city the size of Belle Glade which had an airport. He said he had an air port so favorable located near to the city as here and with additional lands to be incorporated into the port, same could be developed into a major airport.

That the location is favorable from a geographical location as to the prevailing winds, the water and the east and west air routes and would be much used by air

The examiners introduced copies of existing control acts as formulated by the Department of Agriculture and extensively interrogated the witnesses as to their opinion of that act being adopted as controlling matter for the Florida citrus packers for the control of the citrus fruit.

As a basic whole the witnesses approved same, but, only when

Pierce also stated that if the City of Belle Glade did not take advantage of its opportunity to secure and do something about a modern port that it could not expect to attract the desired changes and amendments that had been adopted to meet growing, processing and shipping of the Florida state celery product and to control the amount of (Continued on Page 4)

Observation and Comment

By John M. Gledhill

This week the United States celebrated its anniversary of Independence from England, or as we know it, Fourth of July. There was no general celebration of the day in the Glades area, as most of the people went away on outings and trips.

Quite a different nation exists whose home town was Indianapolis, Ind., and he comes by assignment to be the pastor of Episcopal church mission at Palm Beach, Fla. He is to be likely a new mission in Belle Glade.

The Chaplain was an air corp man in the southwest Pacific for three years and requested, owing to health conditions, church appointment in Florida. Mr. Lively was a former printer and newspaper editor in Indiana, and, from his printing experience, he is to be in charge of the publication of the new paper.

Now that 176 years ago when old Liberty Bell at Philadelphia rang for the first time, the news. We were weak and uncertain then. Now we are strong, but still weak in many ways, need strength enough in power and national defense, and we need no single or possible combination of nations would hastily enter into a carnage to try to conquer the world.

The weak spots are political and economic, and the uncertainty as to internal government policies. There is

Black Marketing Hits Youth

Price control or no price control, America appears to be faced with the prospect of the black market racket hanging to the national economy like a leech for years to come unless it is attacked now with an attitude of "this is war."

The racket is now reaching the proportions of the greatest national "snake in the grass" in American history and those who patronize it are playing with a poison that will strike home with a later crippling effect on the purchasing power of their dollar.

New York has already reported black market operations which are taking pennies from children's pockets while honest merchants in many cities are feeling its effect to the extent of demanding more effective government action.

New York's newspaper PM recently reported that the city's children paying from 200 to 1000 per cent over the regular price of one cent. The paper appears like a harmless racket, at first glance, but it is not always easy to tell where such price boosts originate. Some of the merchants, PM reports, have been selling the gum on a tie-in basis, forcing the youngsters to buy a nickel's worth of candy before they were permitted to buy their favorite gum. The paper reported that some of the children were also reselling the gum at a profit—a practice, which at this time, looks like an early lesson in black marketing.

The newspaper also reports that a representative of one of the bubble gum concerns said that he knew of the racket, which he called the "pink market." Such sales of the gum, he said, have been reported throughout the nation, and he cited instances where it has been sold for as high as 50 cents.

ONLY ONE REMEDY

The singing out of a couple of labor leaders for the brunt of White House denunciation and the calling upon the emergency machinery of the government will not alone solve the nation's industrial crisis.

The thing which eventually must be done requires far sterner action, and a determination to go through with it—without letting the eye become distracted by the lengthening shadow of the coming Congressional elections or the Presidential campaign of 1948.

The "emergency" situation should not have been an unexpected development. It has been growing for years—due to the gradual recognition by the Roosevelt and Truman administration of organized labor as a group unto itself. It has been exempted from the laws applying to other citizens, and protected by special laws giving it the power to do things which other groups cannot.

The genesis of the trouble today stems from the one-sided provisions of the National Labor Relations Act. No positive remedy for the ills of the present will be found until the position of management is equalized with that of labor at the collective bargaining table.

CINEMATIC CHATTER

This picture is "Frontier Girl" it stars Yvonne De Carlo and Rod Cameron and lists a strong supporting cast.

Miss De Carlo, in the role of a feminine saloon keeper in a pioneer settlement, is extremely effective in the colorful assignment.

Rod Cameron is seen as a cowboy fugitive who becomes her unwilling husband and returns from a term in prison to find himself the father of her tiny daughter.

Knapping of the child and a rugged rescue in the mountain wilderness provide the picture with its major thrill, a climax which may very well be accorded a niche in cinema tradition.

Among the exciting scenes in the picture is Cameron's battle with Miss De Carlo. Another highlight is his struggle on the brink of a cliff, where for sheer thrill, matches the best action adventure that has come out of Hollywood.

Two special songs, "Set 'Em Up Joe" and "What is Love" are presented by Miss De Carlo and Fuzzy Knight sings "Johnny's Comin' Home."

Make no mistake about this show. It will be a surprise opre

Innoculation of Cattle For Blackleg

The recent discovery of the "black leg" among the cattle of the Glades is the first time that this serious malady has ever visited this region, according to Dr. Ralph Kidder, of the Experiment Station, assisted by Federal husbandrymen, now have vaccine on hand to inoculate the 3,000 or more cattle and when that is done, he expresses the belief that there will be no more worries for the stockmen. During the past few months there have been many cattle die from a mysterious malady and it was not until a post mortem was held at the Station that the presence of the disease and its diagnosis were uncovered. Since the blackleg malady has appeared here, it is going to be necessary to continue yearly precautions which will mean inoculations and pasture spraying.

Adds Boats To Fleet

Captain Reeder of Whittier's Fish Camp at the dyke, states that he has added a number of new boats to his fleet and will add many more before the real fall fishing and hunting season opens. He reports that fish have gone on a strike and are not biting to any great extent these days. Fishing licenses can be secured at his camp by those who have not secured them before starting on their fishing trip. Licenses are imperative on the lake waters.

New Packing House

Whitlock and Son, who operate the Cymba Farms out on the Brown Farm road, are in the midst of erecting and equipping a modern packing house and washer in which they will handle and pack their celery crop the coming season. The building covers is 108x21 feet and of aluminum sheeting. A new type of grading machine, all made of aluminum is being installed, the first of its kind to be found in any Glades packing house. A preceding unit may be added at a later date.

Raises Hospital Millage

To meet increased operating costs of the Everglades Memorial hospital at Palahoke, the Board of County Commissioners have acted favorably upon a millage increase from 1.75 mills, to raise $21,640.

Elected Board Director

At recent meeting of the Zedwood Drainage District, located in that lush area land section, Arch Higgins, well known in the Glades, has been elected district superintendent. Thurmond Knight was also named as one of the board directors.

Firemen Have Chicken Dinner

Members of the Belle Glade Volunteer Fire Department and their women folk and several invited guests enjoyed a chicken dinner at the Glades Hotel on Monday evening which proved a most pleasing surprise. The speaker who spoke on department matters of interest to his auditors. A movement on foot to revive the Ladies Auxiliary, which has been dormant during the war years.

STATE HIKES

As means of furthering the accumulation of extra money, to put us in a position to build the facilities within a reasonable period of time, the department of Agriculture will allocate an additional $15,000 at each of the above named points.

(1) That each of the above named points puts up $7,500 in addition to the $10,000 agreed to.

(2) That these facilities are to be built according to a plan approved by your local committee and this Department.

(3) That the money raised by each of these localities be put in escrow at a depository 60 days prior to starting the actual construction.

(4) The time of starting the construction of the facilities is to be agreed upon mutually between your committee and the Commissioner of Agriculture.

Here in Belle Glade the original requirements of the state's first offer, was quickly accomplished and there is no doubt but what the additional demand will be met just as promptly.

Among those serving on the committee is Joe Friedlander, Luther Jones, Mrs. Ruth Wedgworth, H. L. Haney, H. L. Speer and Frank Morris. The Belle Glade project is an American Legion one and what has been accomplished up to the present has been done through that source.

The local committee, backed by the farm interests, secured a location at the Experiment farm, for the pavilion project, and in many conferences have suggested changes from the original plans, so that better facilities could be obtained to meet local needs and it is understood that these have been incorporated in the plans of the architect and department.

At Orlando, civic interests have taken over the pavilion project to be a part of a city wide expansion program and have raised around $50,000 in addition to that coming from the state. This set-up will likely be the most pretentious of the five in the state and will be part of the annual Orange Festival lookup.

Waldemar Tews Hears From Parents in Germany

Waldemar Tews, local farmer who has had no word from his parents and relatives in Germany since early in the war, is in receipt of a letter stating that they are all alive and enjoying good health.

The home place was confiscated and farm lands destroyed and the parents were moved many miles away from their former domicile and are now getting fixed on lands designated by the authorities. The members of the family were scattered all over the former German Empire and one brother is a captive prisoner in England.

acreage to be planted, the volume of shipment permitted during periods of glut or low price periods.

As Mrs. Wedgworth and Mr. Hahn were both growers and shippers, the examiners went deep into some of the practices as carried on in the vegetable trade, as to cutting, packing and processing. The local witnesses knew their stuff and gave the examiners their answers, and it appeared that some of the at-torneys were not any too well acquainted with this type of talk and testimony.

Both of the lead witnesses gave their opinion to the effect that a celery control bill or pact was an absolute necessity if the growers and packers were to remain in business, as under marketing conditions, too many of them to use the slang expression "would lose their shirts."

That a control bill as desired would set up regulations which would prevent any losses in the future as has been sustained in years past, especially in the 45-46 season. That regulation in the celery business was imperative and with recommended organization and action to govern a local control act included in the U. S. Act, would help about the desired changes and save the farmers and packers much heavy losses.

Monday afternoon witnesses were C. J. Wilson, agent for the American Fruit Growers Association, for the Belle Glade area; Emmet Whitlock, celery grower; E. M. VanLandingham, celery grower and cutter; and O. C. McWhorter for the Wedgworth estate.

Wilson was asked what the plan of the AFGA was to the local vegetable set-up and he replied we have no direct financial interest in the growing, but provide facilities for processing, packing, shipping and selling their products and give advice on market conditions.

Sometimes we also give financial aid in handling processing expenses and providing money for crop cutting, reimbursing ourselves out of crop later handled. He was asked his opinion as to the control agreement and he replied very necessary and essential and that the adoption of the amendments which might be presented would go far to correct present evils and losses and would make a very satisfactory control.

The examiners seemed to believe that the arrangement for the formation of the office of the new control was of much importance as they inquired very diligently informants on that line. The presented control provides for an Advisory Board and a Growers' Board, acting independently and in conjunction when necessary. Mr. Wilson stated that the representation on these boards were under the presented plan very equal in distribution and members did not interfere with membership on more than one of the committee from each of the sections.

Mr. Whitlock was questioned more about the financial set-up for the new control. He stated that a budget of operation running from $40,000 to $50,000 would be set up and would be paid out of the celery tax to the examiner at Sarasota. He stated this money would be raised by a one cent tariff for every crate placed on the market and if not sufficient an additional amount would be added to meet such operation costs and that this assessment was favored by a majority of the growers.

"Little Doc" VanLandingham was asked why such a control was being asked for and what was its advantages to those who petitioned for it. He replied that we Glades farmers have times when we are pretty seriously affected and have no means of bolstering our losses. We want celery grower and cutter, and O. C. McWhorter for the Wedgworth estate.

"Little Doc" VanLandingham was asked why such a control was being asked for and what was its advantages to those who

in that field, was the main protestant against the proposed control and it was their counsel who did the sharpest examination of witnesses here.

Mr. Borchardt was strongly against the control measure, on the grounds that grower and packer should have direct control over his operations, taking chances on his being able to properly handle his crops and market them, and if there was a profit or a loss, that would be his concern, the income tax man and bankers.

This hearing is but a preliminary one, on which the preceding commissioner will have a report to the Secretary of Agriculture for his final action. If granted, then the control bill as finally formulated, will be sent to the growers of all areas for endorsement and signatures, which requires a certain majority of signers before it can become effective.

OBSERVATIONS

war nations, as it one to feed the world and advance world peace and prosperity, and yet turn round after securing our aid and belabor us as if we were the arch perpetrator of all the ills of the world. Where would these nations now be if it had not been for our great war help, including Russia?

The manner in which our rains are arriving is indeed fortunate in comparison to the long arid and hot spell of last year. Farm lands will be in better condition as to moisture and cultivation when that work period arrives with us.

There is one table commodity which is very scarce on the grocer's shelves these days and that is canned tomatoes. In inquiring around in some of the "outlying" stores I found that some of these merchants did have a supply on hand, but were unable to restock their supplies. Other canned goods seem to be pretty plentiful. Tomatoes are a universal food on most family tables. It makes one sick to think of the thousands of bushels of fine fruit which went to waste in the Glades for lack of a market or energy to go and pick and can them.

A local medical man received a phone call the other day and the excited mother relayed this message of inquiry. "My little daughter has just swallowed a cockroach, shall I spray her throat with DDT? Think you can guess what was the reply of the medical man.

Two men, one a white and one black, who make their living in the so called "square ring" tried out their prowess as fighters in which the colored man for the 22nd time defeated his opponent and held on to the pugilistic crown. A near two million gate went into the coffers of the promoter and on distribution Louis drew down $825,916 and Conn $322,990, on a gross take. Pretty good money for less than 25 minutes ring work. Course Uncle Sam came in for a big ditty from the winnings and promotional earnings.

The ramie plantations of the Florida and Newport companies are not the only source of supply now going to the new process plants, as there is quite a crop being produced on the Hillsboro plantation acreage and from a number of small crop patches. Some of these days ramie hauling is going to be as common as the best hauling of vegetables to the parking plants.

The harvest time of four crops of stalks a year of the ramie outfit to provide employment to hundreds of people in the future.

The Glades sugar cane growers do not permit their growing crops to be unattended, as there are several stages of its cultivation which is necessary to bring it to maturity. Summer time finds large crews at work making new plantings, others use the hands how to chop out the weeds and later cultivation goes on until the growth becomes dense that further work of that type cannot be performed. Rains are an essential need for cane propagation and we usually get plenty of that. Drainage or flooding waters are obtained from canal systems, aided by mole drains, so take it altogether sugar cane growing requires a lot of brain and manual labor.

One of our exchanges has this succinct inquiry of "Why Change?" The article then goes on as follows: "America in a depression is more prosperous than most nations in prosperity."

In those nations where private enterprise has been shackled or destroyed, the average man and woman works hardest and obtains the least in return. It is to the credit of private enterprise that the laborer in America accepts as commonplace luxuries that can be possessed by only the well-to-do of other lands.

Why Be A Rainbow Girl?

Because: The teachings of Rainbow will make you a live asset to your country, Church community and home.

Because you will have the advantage of associating in fraternal fellowship with other carefully reared girls.

Because your membership will be an aid in your spiritual, moral and mental and fraternal development.

Because to know and love your companions you must meet with them in the sincere cooperation of friendliness, fraternity and faith.

Because your membership is a sound investment and will pay rich dividends in the development of personality and character.

Because Rainbow teaches not only the beautiful lessons contained in its ritual but also develops in the girl a feeling of responsibility and the ability to speak and express her ideas before an audience.

Because while they require that the officers be proficient in their work, they also provide for the entertainment which experience has shown us is necessary if they are to hold the interest of the girls.

Wide Range Of Salvation Army Vacation Schools

As one of its National efforts to curb juvenile delinquency and build good citizens for tomorrow, the Salvation Army in United States has enrolled at the present time in its vacation schools, according to Major Chas. Johnson, Commander of The Salvation Army in Palm Beach county.

One thousand schools are being conducted in buildings, vacant lots, parks, tents, housing projects and trailer camps, with leadership provided by The Salvation Army Corps Officers, assistants and volunteers which will give over 1500 weeks to the National Vacation Bible School program.
